Dear Members

Please read below.

Hello,

My parents who live in orton waterville have just told me this story. Last week a young man came to their door with a holdall selling tea towels etc. he appeared to have a speech impediment or put one on. He talked decently to them, when my parents said that they did not want anything, he said that their neighbour, and gave correct name, said they would buy something, then asked them for some money. They told him no and he left. the next day it transpired that he then went to the next house and he told the lady there ,that my parents had given him £10 to help him and asked her for the same. She then gave him £2. He asked for the name of person in the bungalow opposite, to which it was given. He then went to that persons house, a lady in a wheelchair. When she opened the door, he pushed past her, saying hello (using her name) and sat on her couch. He then asked her for £90. she apparently did not give him anything and he left. Apart from my parents these are all elderly ladies on their own. they were all frightened to involve the police in case this person came back. They, and my parents, have all had many negative things happening to them over the last 2 years, in their own homes, with 'people?' preying on elderly, infirm and living on their own. This incident happened in Valance road / church Drive. If they had told me sooner I would have reported it straight away. Please can you make residents aware - thank you
